

Biography

I have been born of goodly parents therefore I was raised in a home where virtue, honesty, discipline, integrity and hard work were the key fundamental principles. Such godly characterized home is a place I love and will forever love and cherish for time and throughout all eternity. I was taught the basic principles of the gospel as common to all Christian religious sects. I am from a family of eight including my parents. I have four brothers and two sisters.

At age seven, I was enrolled in a primary school where I learned basic reading, writing and speaking skills. I was through with primary at age twelve when I began to be much desirous in things and knowledge that would lead me to achieve my destiny in life. I acquired good working skills, and my ability to communicate better with my peers and others was improved at the secondary level of my education

In the late month of the year 1997, my Dad found the true church of the Lord Jesus Christ and our Heavenly Father. Like the prophet Lehi, who was so desirous that his family should first partake of the tree of life and live, my dad never hesitated in telling his family about the truth he had found. My family met with the full-time missionaries and began several discussions. Four weeks later my family was baptized and confirmed members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, which I was excluded because I was so young and had no so much interest, since I was not acquainted religion. Therefore could not come to certain conclusion that I was in the Lord's true church as did my Dad and others. Despite I was not baptized and confirmed a member I never prevented myself from attending church meetings with my family. I went through primary and in few years was advanced to the young men quorum. At this moment I was able to conclude that I was at the right place. I felt and knew that this was indeed the true church of our Savior Jesus Christ. I was baptized and confirmed a member on the 17th of February, 2001. I enrolled in seminary and institute and in my 20th birthdate I left to serve in the Ghana Cape Mission. I remarkable experience I will never forget.

Whiles a young man on the missionary field, It was deeply impressed on my mind where in particular I was going to have my tertiary education. I have dreamt of BYU since a deacon. I have prayed and fasted for such great opportunity to come into my life. I have lived worthy for it. As an answer to my humble prayer and worthiness. I now find myself on the campus of BYUH, an institution of the Lord, pursuing information system as a major.

My testimony about the Gospel has grown stronger. I am sealed to my parents and my two lovely sisters and a brother. I look forward to that glorious day when I shall see my savior and live eternally with Him with my family.
